

HIPSTER THAN EVER

Humour, one shot

Pitch :

Kevin is a hipster – a real one: red beard, large-framed glasses, an immoderate taste for vintage and underground – and an obsessive fear of anything directly or indirectly linked to the mainstream, that abomination. As far as he could remember, Kevin has always been a hipster. He was born this way -on the fringes, out of synch, against the flow. Except there is a problem: how do you remain a hipster if everyone is becoming one too? To avoid the attacks of the big bad mainstream, you sometimes need to use cunning... Funny and off-the-wall strips, taken from James's tumblr, Hipster than ever.

«Manhattan»
could have been the greatest movie of all time...

... if Woody
Allen had named
it «Brooklyn».
